Disaster Survival Checklist

Popular Mechanics

Backpack

In an emergency evacuation, there's not always time to find what you need, so your grab-and-go pack should be preloaded with all your essentials.

- ☐ Important documents
Copy of insurance policies, identification, bank records, medical records, copies of deeds
- ☐ Prescriptions
Medication, eyeglasses
- ☐ Mini first-aid kit
Bandages, antibiotic ointment, aspirin
- ☐ $300 cash (in small denominations)
- ☐ Prepaid phone card
- ☐ Matches in waterproof container
- ☐ Flashlight and extra batteries
- ☐ Whistle to signal for help
- ☐ Portable NOAA weather radio (battery or hand-crank powered)
- ☐ Food (e.g., granola, nuts) and bottled water
- ☐ Extra set of keys for your home and car
- ☐ Infant/child necessities

car

You never know where you'll be when a crisis occurs, so keep a box of supplies in the trunk of your car to sustain your family if stranded on the road.

- ☐ Local maps and road atlas
- ☐ Writing supplies
Pencils, pens, notebook
- ☐ Food
E.g., dried fruit, snacks, cookies
- ☐ 2 gal. of bottled water
- ☐ Mess kit
Paper cups, plates, utensils
- ☐ Compact sleeping bag or blankets
- ☐ Sanitation supplies
Toilet paper, moist towelettes, garbage bags, plastic ties
- ☐ Hand sanitizer
- ☐ Duct tape
- ☐ Cellphone car charger
- ☐ Clothes
Sweater, waterproof jacket, hat, shoes
- ☐ First-aid kit
Bandages, antibiotic ointment, antiseptic, aspirin, antidiarrheal medicine, medical tape
- ☐ Multitool, knife
- ☐ Fire extinguisher
- ☐ Jumper cables
- ☐ Light sticks or roadside fares
- ☐ Towline for hauling or towing

home

The supplies in your home should keep your family safe and healthy for at least three days—and be useful during the cleanup phase.

- ☐ Window-sealing materials
Plastic sheeting, duct tape
- ☐ Change of clothing
Long pants, long-sleeved shirts, rain jackets, sturdy boots or shoes
- ☐ Food
Canned and dry goods, food for your pets
- ☐ Bottled water
Three days' supply (1 gal. per person per day), bleach, medicine dropper (to sanitize water)
- ☐ Manual can opener, plastic utensils, plates and cups
- ☐ Lantern or candles, matches
- ☐ Flashlight with extra batteries
- ☐ NOAA weather radio (battery or hand-cranked)
- ☐ Dust masks
- ☐ Fire extinguisher
- ☐ Heavy gloves for removing debris
- ☐ Rope
- ☐ First-aid kit
Pain relievers, antidiarrheal medication, bandages, scissors, tweezers, insect repellent, splint, medical tape, iodine, needle and thread
- ☐ First-aid manual
- ☐ Disinfectant, hand sanitizer
- ☐ Toilet paper, bucket
- ☐ Hand and power tools
Generator, fuel, chain saw, shovel, rake, buckets, hose, hatchet, knife, hammer, broom, drill/driver, circular saw, fully charged backup batteries for tools

Natural Gas

Most gas valves are located outside, and require a wrench for shutoff. Consult your utility company for instructions on proper shutoff, then keep those instructions in an emergency drawer by the door with a wrench and a flashlight.

Water

During a disaster, cracked exterior water lines can bring contaminated water into your house. To shut down your house's water, simply locate and turn off the main water valve, which typically is located in the basement.

Electricity

In a flood, live electrical outlets can become a danger to both your family and rescue workers. If flooding is possible, locate your main circuit box and shut off the main breaker. If there is already water in the basement, do not touch your service panel.

MANAGE YOUR BUSINESS, NOT YOUR COMPUTERS

You're a doctor... a lawyer... an architect...
You're very good at what you do.
You don't have time to wade through a morass of technology.
We've done the wading.
We're very good at what we do.

LET US MANAGE YOUR COMPUTERS WHILE YOU DO WHAT YOU LOVE

"I'm a business owner who really depends on my computer. If it goes down, orders don't get filled and business stops. I can't afford that."

"I'm an attorney. If my computer system goes down, I can't conveniently do research, or complete filings on time, or bill for my time. I can't afford that."

CAN'T AFFORD COMPUTER DOWN TIME? WE'LL KEEP YOUR COMPUTERS UP AND RUNNING FOR A FLAT MONTHLY FEE. NO SURPRISES. NO HIDDEN COSTS. NO DOWN TIME.

"I'm a doctor. I'm scrambling to keep up with electronic records requirements, HIPAA requirements, data security. I'd like to have more time to actually practice medicine."

Bracco Systems works to understand how your business works. Then we craft a solution that works for you and your budget. We understand the importance of data and go to extreme lengths to ensure that data is not compromised or lost.

"I have an old system that needs upgrading, but I'm not sure what to get."

We can advise you on the best computer to meet the needs of your business. Since we charge the same consultation fee regardless of the cost of your new system, it is not in our interest to advise you to get a more expensive system than you need. Nor will we advise you to get a system you're likely to outgrow and replace within a year. Both are needless expenses.

About the Barns Series

The vestiges of Sonoma's agricultural legacy - the barns, sheds, shacks and other agricultural outbuildings - remain well distributed throughout the area. These historic artifacts are part of the character and charm that attracts many to live here and visit. Sadly, many of these buildings are in a state of advanced deterioration and decay. Many are, literally, melting into the ground. These structures are private property but they are also a part of the unique regional character enjoyed by all. Public policies are sorely needed to create incentives for owners to restore and re-purpose these historical structures. Currently many owners are more inclined to allow them to disappear as the images below attest.

In Southern California only a few historic barns remain today.
When our rural heritage is lost, what will distinguish Petaluma from Van Nuys?
